SHURR ! SUCCESS MISSION STATEMENT

My mission is to end needless emotional suffering by significantly increasing the self-awareness, influence, and transformative communication skills of company leaders, so they, in turn, nurture and grow their people. In doing so, employees become better spouses, parents, friends, and co-workers, which has a strong, positive generational impact. Helping people love and respect themselves and others in a deeper way creates a more joyful and trusting world to live in.

WHAT SEPARATES TIM APART FROM OTHER BUSINESS CONSULTANTS?

My unique ability to see hidden unconscious beliefs and biases along with the gift of rapidly upgrading human operating systems (HOS) so people experience immediate, lasting results is what separates me from 99% of the business coaches and consultants working today. I've been in the trenches for almost three decades getting people off drugs, triumphing over PTSD, shedding life-long bad habits, and creating breakthroughs for those who had lost any hope of finding salvation or attaining dreams. Everyone has experienced some form of trauma and unconscious beliefs that hold them back, even if they do not realize it. I'm like the Geek Squad For Your Brain! I optimize human performance faster than anyone else!

WHAT ARE COMMON PROBLEMS TIM SOLVES?

I solve problems that people do not know they have. Everyone has blind spots, faulty communication habits, hidden insecurities, and cultural biases that traditional leadership and sales programs don't uncover, address, or improve. My profound understanding of what drives human behavior at an unconscious level and how to predictably upgrade past subconscious programming is what produces consistent, sustainable results and a lasting ROI.

In the past, clients struggled with lost sales, low employee satisfaction survey scores, high turnover difficulty attracting top talent, disrespectful communication, departmental conflicts (finger-pointing, hoarding information, etc.), and age bias (older and younger leaders not trusting one another).

Companies who seek new ways to boost growth hire me to increase leadership impact, employee trust, productivity, sales, and team collaboration. Sales teams are also always in need of stronger relationships, communication, and selling skills, along with the self-confidence, focus, time management, follow-up habits, and subconscious beliefs that separate top sales earners from all the rest.

WHAT WILL YOU RECEIVE FROM WORKING WITH TIM?

I help executives, company leaders, and sales professionals eliminate self-limiting beliefs, biases, and communication habits that weaken relationships, while also boosting confidence, resiliency, and feelings of calm. This radically improves personal focus, drive, and follow-through, while strengthening relationships and sales, both with internal and external customers. Intentional, self-aware people who have removed past subconscious limitations and are able to connect with and influence others at a deeper level consistently rise to the top, while also elevating their quality of life!

WHO IS OUR IDEAL CLIENT?

My ideal client is a company CEO, President, C-Suite Leader, VP, or HR Director who believes in growing his/her people and investing resources into developing the EQ and communication skills of the leadership team(s) and employees. Regardless of the industry, as I've worked with them all, or the size of the organization, the best clients possess a growth mindset and wish to grow with their team rather than stand on the sidelines doing what they've always done. They value sustainable growth, collaboration, a happy workplace, and a sense of being united and on the same page rather than having mini-kingdoms and departments that compete with one another because of leadership egos.

These leaders are active with their families and in the community, yet are often reserved and work-focused. They value being a giver, showing up as part of the solution, and holding people accountable for their actions. Employees respect and appreciate this person as their leader, although they often have issues with other leaders in the company. Above all else, this leader wants to participate in the Business Acceleration Experience because s/he recognizes the benefits that will be produced and aren't foolish enough to think that they already know everything.

TIM'S PASSION PROJECT

Almost 22 Veterans lose their lives daily due to PTSD post-deployment. There are 18.4 million Veterans living in America and reports suggest that up to 60% of combat Vets have some form of post-traumatic stress due to their wartime experiences. So I began a grassroots movement to end Veteran suicide due to PTSD by creating the One Final Mission™ Seminars. My program frees Veterans and their families from the negative symptoms produced by PTSD and TBI (Traumatic Brain Injury). TimShurr.com/OFM

Since the latest research suggests that more than 29% of the population struggles with anxiety, I've opened this program up to the general public as well. Watch: One Final Mission Documentary Join #ArmyofHealers today!
